Maine Radio Station Set For May 17

Maine Day Date For New Venture

By SID FOLSOM

Maine may have a radio station by Maine Day, Keith Fowles, chairman of the radio station committee, said this week.

The plan for a campus-wide station was approved at a recent meeting of the University committee on administration. With this go-ahead signal, student planners and technicians have rushed into getting the station on the air.

In approving the plan the committee on administration said they felt that the station would be an ideal means of emergency communication to the students, in addition to providing the usual services of news and entertainment.

Three-Hour Broadcasts

Plans are now being made for three-hour broadcasts, six days a week, featuring music, news, sports, and general coverage of matters of campus interest.

According to Bruce Schwab, student technician of the Radio Guild, the station will transmit low-power, standard-frequency broadcasts.

This means that it may be picked up with standard radio receivers, tuned to the broadcast band.

The low-power broadcasts will be received over a limited area, covering the campus and a few nearby residences. The assigned frequency of the station has not been announced.

Radio Guild Sponsors

The station will be under the sponsorship of the Radio Guild, with Guild members carrying on most of the work of broadcasting. Any students interested in working in any capacity are urged to apply at 240 Stevens hall.

Faculty advisers will be Professor Walter J. Creamer, technical, and Mrs. Phyllis D. Williamson, production. The studio and control room will be in 275 Stevens hall.

According to chairman Keith Fowles, the immediate operation of the station is made possible by the generosity of the Class of 1950.

Maine Curriculum In 'Reader's Digest'

An article in the May issue of Reader's Digest has focused national attention on the public management curriculum offered by the department of history and government at the University.

The Digest story, entitled "Something New in the State of Maine," is a condensation of an article by T. E. Murphy in the March issue of the National Municipal Review.

The article tells about the establishment of the public management courses under Prof. Edward F. Dow, and points out with actual examples the advantages of the city manager form of municipal government. The Digest sums up with the words: "Down-easters kick over tradition and take politics out of local government."

New executives of the Maine Campus view a newspaper exhibit in Fernald Hall that will be a feature of Open House day. Editor Roland Mann (left) and Business Manager Harry Hulley were elected last week. The exhibit, "Fifty Years of Community History," was prepared by the Rockland Courier-Gazette and the Farnsworth Art museum.

Seven Honored By Skull Society Mann, Hulley To Run 'Campus'

Seven members of the Junior class were initiated into the Senior Skulls Society at the annual Junior Day assembly April 20.

Membership in this group is the highest non-scholastic honor accorded to University male students.

Next year's membership is small as compared with the eleven Skulls of this year. Dave Cates, President of this year's Society, gave as reason for this "the limited number of student leaders in the class of '51."

Those tapped were Seymour Card, Dwight Demeritt, Arthur Dentrement, John Dineen, James Elliot, Eugene Gammon, and John Wallace. Election to the group is based on scholastic average as well as extracurricular services in the interest of the student body. Initiation ceremonies for the new members will take place during commencement week.

Roland D. Mann, Journalism, and Harry R. Hulley, Pre-law, have been elected as editor and business manager of the Maine Campus by the Student Publications Board.

They replace Larry Pinkham and John Stimpson, respectively.

Mann has been on the staff for two years, first as a reporter, then as assistant editor. He is employed by the Bangor Sunday Commercial as a proofreader.

Hulley is also a two-year man, serving as assistant advertising manager his first year and then as advertising manager.

New appointments on the editorial staff made by Mann include:

Richard Sprague, news editor; James Barrows, city editor; William Loubier, sports editor; Alvan Mersky, make-up editor; Marilyn Hoyt, society editor.

Record Crowd Expected At First University Open House Since War

Over 100 Exhibits Scheduled For Prep, High School Students

A record-breaking number of high school and prep school students is expected to participate in the more than 100 activities of the first post-war University Open House program Saturday.

The program, arranged by a committee in charge of Prof. Benjamin Kent, will get underway at 10 a.m. and continue without interruption until 9:30 p.m.

Prof. Kent says the events have been planned to provide opportunity for visitors to inspect the University's classrooms and laboratories, view the many displays and exhibits, enjoy the athletic events, and in general to learn what university life is like.

All departments have prepared special displays and projects for the event. However, so that visiting secondary school students may get an actual glimpse of University life, classes will be held as usual on Saturday morning.

Many Exhibits

Several of the special programs prepared by over 50 individual departments include a guidance display especially arranged for high school students, a newspaper staff in action, milk testing, cooking demonstration, animal autopsy, the locomotive Lion in operation, a demonstration of hand-made lantern slides, soils mechanics project, theatre and music demonstrations. Nearly fifty departments of the university will offer exhibits and demonstrations.

Prof. Kent has expressed the wish that university students will take advantage of the Open House to become better acquainted with departments outside their own. However, to avoid overcrowding, the committee would prefer that university students attend the night session, so far as possible.

Intra-Squad Tilt

A full slate of athletic contests is scheduled during the afternoon. Varsity track and tennis teams from the University of New Hampshire will meet the Maine squads in Yankee Conference competition.

Coach Dave Nelson's spring football candidates will give visitors a preview of the Pale Blue 1950 team in an intra-squad tilt on the practice field. Members of the women's athletic department will present a demonstration

Over 700 At Junior Prom; Setting Unique

Over 700 dancers filled the Memorial gym and Field house last Friday night at the Beaux Arts Ball presented by the class of 1951. The gym was completely decorated so that not an inch of wall or ceiling showed. The Field house was decorated as an outdoor garden with tables and chairs.

First prize for originality of costume went to a couple who are fast becoming seasoned winners. Constance Webb and Harold Gerrish, who won first prize at the Penny Carnival in March, scored another hit with their "Negro Angels" costume. The prize was a set of Wheary luggage, donated by W. T. Grant Co.

The door prize of fifty dollars went to John Shea and Frances Callan. President Hauck made both presentations during intermission.

Fred Schoch, chairman of the dance, expressed the hope that the dance would become an annual tradition in years to come.

Dates For Everyone At Senior Formal

A Commencement Ball date bureau with a four-member nucleus was set up at last Monday's meeting of the dance committee for the senior formal.

Jan Pettee, Carol Carr, Bob Richter and Larry Ouellette were placed in charge of the bureau, which will attempt to help seniors find dates for the June 16 dance.

George Grant, chairman of the dance committee, announced that the band has not yet been selected. Bands under consideration are Louis Prima, Glen Gray, Hal McIntyre, and Sam Donahue.

Booking agencies which handle these four have been contacted.

The committee will meet with class officers and members of the executive committee at 3:45 Wednesday afternoon, May 5, in the Carnegie committee room.

Symphony Given

A large number of students and faculty members enjoyed the yearly concert by the Bangor Symphony orchestra yesterday morning in Memorial Gym. Dr. Adelbert Sprague, former head of the University's music department, conducted.

Maine Day Work Project Leaders Are Named

By BILL ROBERTSON

Four students have started the ball rolling toward a very promising Maine Day by announcing their intention to run for the title of "Hizzonor."

Dwight Demeritt, chairman of the mayoralty committee, announced that the potential mayors are: Al Pease, Phi Kap; Don Spear, SAE; Duke Walters, freshman; and Bruno Calandro, also a freshman. He did not say whether any of the candidates are planning to run girls on their tickets.

John Stimpson, general chairman in charge of Maine Day, stated that committee work is progressing quite satisfactorily. Sixteen organizations have filed their intentions to enter floats in the parade, and more are expected to follow. Fifteen fraternities have entered into the spirit of Maine Day by sending in their applications for the inter-fraternity sing.

Stimpson stated that the day will begin with a central breakfast for men and women in the men's cafeteria between the hours of 7-8 a.m. Students will then meet on the Mall in preparation for work projects which will begin at 8:20 and end at noon.

At 1:30 p.m. the floats will assemble and parade past the reviewing stand on the library steps. At the same time the float winners are announced, Stimpson added, the new mayor will be introduced and inaugurated.

The student-faculty skit will be presented twice in the evening—at 6:30 and at 8:30. Rounding off the day, there will be a free stag dance in the gym immediately following the last skit. The Maine Men, who will furnish the music, have volunteered their services.

Mary Whitcomb, co-chairman of the projects committee, has announced

Sponsored by the University of New Hampshire's Outing club, the conference was attended by representatives of more than thirty clubs from eastern United States and Canada.

Maine delegates were John Wilson, member of the Maine Woodsman team, and Edith Curtis, historian.

Bibber, Gray To Manage Towns Of Islesboro, Old Orchard Beach

John P. Bibber, who received his M.A. degree in public management in June, 1949, was recently named town manager of Islesboro, according to Professor Edward F. Dow, director of the public management training program.

Bibber will be the second town manager of Islesboro since that town adopted the town manager form of government two years ago. He spent his first internship in the city of Auburn in the summer of 1948. His second internship was in Presque Isle in the summer of 1949.

Gray Gets Appointment

Another graduate of the public management training program, Albert Gray, has received an appointment as town manager of Old Orchard Beach. He will be the first to hold the office, as Old Orchard Beach has just made provisions for the town manager form of government.

Gray, a graduate of the class of 1948, was previously employed as town manager of Meredith, N. H. He was Meredith's first town manager.

Internship Training

Sixteen students have majored in the city management option of the public management program since it was first presented in 1947, Professor Dow said. All sixteen have obtained positions in municipal government.

Future Profs Hear Carpenter

Roland Carpenter, superintendent of Bangor schools, stated the major qualifications for teaching in an address before members of Kappa Phi Kappa on the campus recently.

As guest speaker to the professional educational fraternity for men, Carpenter explained that teaching success is predicated on interest in the individual child, enthusiasm, exemplary citizenship, and willingness to do extra work in the school and community.

William J. Carmalt, president of the fraternity, acted as master of ceremonies for the meeting at which these new members were initiated: Burt F. Brown, Elwood M. Gray, George E. Jenkins, Andrew C. Messner, Pierre J. Morin, Byron H. Meader, Philip R. Ward, and Frederick W. York.

The next meeting of the society will be held May 16 at 7 p.m. in Room E, South Estabrooke. Elections and installation of officers for the school year 1950-51 will be held at this time. A social meeting and ladies' night will follow.

Union Third Floor Devoted To Business Use

Editor's note: This is the third in a series of articles explaining in detail the make-up of the Student Union.

Whereas the first and ground floors of the proposed Student Union, discussed in the last two issues of the Campus, are intended for the use of the student in his leisure hours, the second floor will be devoted mainly to student business.

Four offices, 300 square feet apiece, will be available for the use of student organizations. One will be for the sole use of the student government. The other three, according to Charles Crossland, executive director, will contain large file cabinets, enabling each organization to have individual files.

Another room will be sound-proofed and available for music recreation. Small orchestra rehearsals will be possible in this room.

A large alumni-faculty lounge are also called for in the plans. Upon request this room will be available to those organizations which find it impractical to meet in the smaller offices. A kitchenette, operating by means of a dumb waiter from the main kitchen on the ground floor, will serve this lounge.

The floor will be highlighted by an all-faith chapel situated next to the offices of the Student Religious association.

Tau Epsilon Phi Taps New Officer Slate

At its regular business meeting Monday night, Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity elected officers for the coming year.

Those elected were:

Irving Remar, chancellor; Donald Povich, vice chancellor; C. Martin Berman, scribe; Maurice Cohen, bur-sar; Leonard Silver, steward; Albert Morris, house manager; Jerome Matus, 7th member of the executive board; Theodore Gross, warden; Gerald Cope, chaplain; William Matson, historian.

Analyze News For Yourself, Advises Ewing

A successful person must be able to analyze the information he receives and form his own individual opinions and attitudes, according to James Ewing, co-publisher of the Bangor Commercial.

Speaking at a meeting of the Faculty Arts club on "Newspapers, Education, and Democracy," he said that in today's world of propaganda, censorship, publicity men, and mass printing, the average individual receives many interpretations of facts and events which are not always unbiased.

To be properly informed one must consider the sources of his information and compare diverse points of view.

Committee May Change Grades; Assemblies Revised

The grade of either E or F may be abolished here, it was learned after a Faculty council meeting last week.

Prof. Spofford H. Kimball reported progress in his committee's efforts to unify the dual system now used to arrive at semester averages and the total of grade points.

Either the E or F becomes superfluous in light of the decision of the College of Agriculture to eliminate next fall the practice of allowing rearrange exams to those scoring E but not F.

Next fall will also witness a change in the scheduling of periods on assembly days.

On assembly days periods will be: 7:45-8:35; 8:45-9:15; 9:25-10:15; assembly; 10:25-10:55; 11:05-11:35; 11:45-12:35. From the sixth period on, classes will be held as usual.

Growing out of a suggestion by President Arthur A. Hauck, the Faculty council became a reality with its first monthly meeting last January. Its duties supplement those of the committee on administration.

Senior Recital Slated

Priscilla Goggin, soprano, and Paul Payson, baritone, will present a senior recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in Carnegie hall.

The recital, open to the public, will consist of operatic and musical comedy duets, together with solo groups.

VA Writes New Regulation To Cover G.I. Bill

The Veteran's Administration has issued a new regulation concerning future training under the G.I. Bill. July 25, 1951, is the important date for all veterans. This is the date after which no training can be started or restarted. Three points are particularly affected by this date.

Any veteran not actually enrolled in college during the spring semester of 1951, or in a summer session during 1951 starting before July 25, will lose all further rights to educational benefits under the G.I. Bill.

Any veteran who drops out of college after July 25, 1951, failing to enroll for the fall term or any subsequent term except a summer session, will lose his right to further educational benefits unless his failure to enroll is due to "reasons beyond his control."

There is nothing in the regulation to indicate that teachers who normally take their educational programs only during summer sessions will be allowed to continue under the G.I. Bill after the summer of 1951. The only exceptions to the requirement for continuous attendance are for "normal interruptions for summer vacations" and for "other reasons beyond the control of the veteran."

The Office of Veteran's Education states that it has written the VA for clarification and will soon have further information.

SRA Constitution Up For Referendum

Lora Moulton, chairman of the Inter-Faith council, announced that the new S.R.A. constitution was approved by that body last week. The document is being distributed to dormitories and fraternity houses this week for a group referendum.

If the vote is favorable, a new slate of officers will be drawn up at the May 10 meeting of the council. This slate will be voted on at the general elections to be held May 16.

The constitution was drafted by Lora Moulton, Walter St. Onge, and Harry Henderson.

Returns are to be in by May 5.

Dean To Hold Frosh Meeting

Dean Joseph M. Murray will meet with freshmen of the College of Arts and Sciences in the Little Theatre at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, May 2.

Purpose of the meeting, according to Dean Murray, is "to give the students a clearer idea of what college is about and to explain the objectives of the first two years of the liberal arts program."

It is hoped that the discussion, coming on the eve of freshman's selection of his sophomore subjects, will help solve individual problems on the basis of a year's college experience.

"We're simply offering the student a chance to discuss the general features of his program and to work out his courses to his best advantage," Dean Murray said.

'Campus' Changes Hands

With this issue of the Campus a new staff takes over.

A dozen juniors, who didn't have a care in the world until last week, had something dropped in their laps. The Campus is our baby, and right now it feels like a heavy one.

We'd like to take this opportunity to say what wouldn't sound modest at another time. Just this: as student publications go, the Campus has maintained a pretty high standard for the past year or so. Credit for this goes largely to senior students on the staff. They haven't been afraid of work; they've gladly devoted a great deal of time to the paper—and they've taken justifiable pride in the result.

We hope that we'll be able to fill their shoes.

It usually turns out—and this year is no exception—that the Campus staff is made up largely of journalism students. The reason is simply that they are the ones who naturally have the most interest in working on the paper.

But we have no desire to be exclusive and one danger we're most anxious to avoid is that of giving too much space to the activities of one college and not enough to others. We sincerely want to give everyone a fair break as far as news is concerned.

So don't hesitate to come in and offer your advice—or your services—if you think we're missing out on important news of any department. The Campus can always use good reporters. And there can be a lot of satisfaction in the work for anyone who tries it.

One of the many things that can make an editorial staff bite its nails is lack of reader reaction. We want to know how you feel on any and all topics, including the paper itself. We have a letter column for you to express yourself in and we hope you'll take advantage of it.

We reserve the right to disagree with your opinions. The policy of the Campus has been independent and we intend to keep it that way. But we are open to opinion, and your letters will be welcomed.

All letters should be signed. Names will be withheld from publication upon request.

Let's hear from you.

—THE INCOMING STAFF

The Men Behind The Man

A new jazzed-up version of the traditional mayoral campaign is in the offing. Women and all sorts of new innovations promise to make this year's race one of the most spirited and laugh-provoking thus far.

However, there's one little note we'd like to inject before the campaign gets off to its usual flying start. And that is a reminder of just what the mayor's chief duties are.

Next fall you'll expect peppy football rallies and good between-the-halves entertainment at the games. It is the mayor's job to provide just that. No one man, no matter how talented or energetic he is, can do it by himself. He must have some group behind him that will be willing to pitch in and help not only during this spring's festivities but in the autumn as well.

It doesn't have to be a big group or even an organized one as long as it can be counted on to give His Honor, the new mayor, a hand throughout his term of office.

With that piece of wisdom, non-partisan paper that we are, we wish the tops in luck to all the candidates, and may the best and cleverest twosome win.

NEWS ITEM: MAINE
SKIERS TO PRACTICE
SPRING JUMPING ON CAMPUS ROADS!

Black And White

By SID FOLSOM

Springtime and students come and go, while the college goes on forever. Situations are met and solved by each successive class.

For some practice in solving things, let's tackle the matter of our assemblies.

How many assemblies have you gone to this year? Interesting weren't they? Fascinating? Make a list of all the assemblies you remember attending.

Now let's bring in another angle. How many times have you heard it said, "Why can't we have a name band play here? Other schools have them."

Reflect once again, and you'll remember the night, a few weeks ago, when many Maine students traveled to Bangor to listen to a concert featuring Jimmy Dorsey's band.

Now add all these items together, and see what we have. Simple, isn't it? WHY NOT HAVE SOME NAME BAND CONCERTS AT MAINE?

Maine has an assembly committee, which, by the way, has done a good job this year in bringing us nine (count 'em) ... nine assemblies, with two more scheduled this spring. Pats on the back, and all that sort of thing.

But hasn't this committee seen the answer to more popular assemblies? With students willing to pay to hear star performers, why can't Maine present some of today's better-known entertainers, and make the assembly program a highlight of Maine's social season?

Members of the assembly committee, take notice.

In case the reader is interested, members of the committee are: (students) Barbara Richardson, Harold Moulton, Albert Brady, Elaine MacNichol; (faculty) Prof. Henry Hawley, Prof. Winthrop Libby, Prof. Richard Hill, Prof. Lewis Niven, Prof. David Trafford, and Mr. Charles Crossland, chairman.

Now let's look at a few facts.

Name bands would charge between $1500 and $3000 to play for a concert here. This, of course, immediately runs into the obstacle of the assembly committee's limited budget of $2200 per year.

Memorial Gym has a capacity of 2500 when set for assemblies. This means that a show might be presented for admission prices between seventy-five cents and $1.50 per person. Wouldn't you pay that much to hear a good concert by a name band? Tickets for the Jimmy Dorsey show were $1.80 each.

Speaking of the Jimmy Dorsey show, did you know that he stages concerts for prices between $1500 and $2000, without special arrangements?

A Bangor promoter, who brings many entertainers to that city, has offered his services to Maine to help arrange such concerts at any time.

When's the next assembly?

Thots While Chewing Tobacco

By DICK SPRAGUE

Our good friend Noah Webster didn't define spring fever—at least not in the Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, Fifth Edition. Possibly he didn't consider it significant. But here in Maine it is a real problem. Dr. Arnold Toynbee pointed this out and suggested that this torpid period might be the result of severe climatic changes.

If you remember, Kenneth Roberts took him to task quite severely for this in the Saturday Evening Post. With such eminent authorities offering theories on the subject, I can't hope to offer any sure cure. But the disease seems so universal that I feel something should be said about it.

Mr. Webster, while neglecting to define the fever, did define spring. A clue might be found there: "Season of the year when plants vegetate and grow; the vernal season usually including March, April, and May in the middle latitudes North of the equator."

Now the symptoms are easily recognizable. For instance, you might lie on your bed on a fall afternoon, gaze at books on your desk and think how nice it would be if you could do something about it. When you have S.F. it is different. You lie on your bed, gaze at your books and feel that it would be nice if you could think about doing something about it.

Or, when a prof is explaining the Treaty of Ghent, you find that you see Lana Turner in a two-piece bathing suit—brother, you got it.

If you are sure you have S.F., there are a few things you might try. Down East, people take portions of sulphur and molasses. If you're foolhardy and/or brave, exact dosage will be supplied by dropping a card to this column. Secondly, you might try to get excited about something. The library has an excellent volume, "How to Worry Successfully."

If these fail, forget about cures. I don't know what you'll do. Furthermore, I don't care. I've got it myself.

Kozloff Pops Off

To the Editor: I would like to express my opinion of the Campus column, "University Society." This column is a poor excuse for a newspaper article, and it should be eliminated. It surprises me that the Campus staff has not as yet realized this.

Lately, the Campus has been devoting close to half a page of print to "University Society" which represents only a small corner of our campus. It seems to me that a student newspaper, such as the Campus, should represent the whole student body and not just a small part of the student body. And I may add that if the column did represent the whole student body, news of that type—if it could be called news, would not be appreciated by a majority of the students.

Let's face the facts. There's no place for "society" in our paper. Why waste valuable space? There certainly is something more interesting to write about. How about considering it?

JOHN KOZLOFF

Editor's note: We print "University Society" because it is full of names. There is an old newspaper adage that names make news.

Commuter Speaks

To the Editor: Starting last fall, there was a lot of moaning and wailing about the bus stop in front of Beta being wide-open to the wind, snow, sleet, and hail. Several letters appeared in the letter column about this, asking why the place wasn't boarded in.

Well, boys and girls, it's being boarded in now. Thanks to the fact that a laundry truck knocked down the poor excuse for a shelter that existed, some two or three months ago, we are going to have a bus stop that will be great protection from all the elements.

It is better late than never. But those who stood out there freezing during the past winter will raise but faint cheers to see this improvement. In fact, I can hear some of them complaining now that the sides will cut off any breeze that blows across the river during the sweltering months of summer.

But better late than never. Next winter students will be able to wait for the busses in comparative comfort—thanks to a laundry truck.

COMMUTER

Thanks From Schock

To the Editor: I feel that all of us in the junior class can be proud of the success of the Beaux Arts ball. The achievement was based solely on the fine spirit of cooperation of all those students who so willingly helped in making the affair one of the best the University has seen in years.

It is the wish of many members of this class that the Beaux Arts ball may become an annual highlight of Maine's social activities, sponsored by juniors in the years to come.

Sincerely yours,

FRED SCHOCK, chairman

Peirce Injured

Waldo Peirce, famed Maine artist, suffered possible internal injuries last week when he slipped from the gangplank of a ship unloading potatoes in Searsport. He also suffered a broken shoulder and possible hip fractures in the accident.

Peirce, a friend of many students and faculty, exhibited his works at the University last fall.

The Beaux Arts Ball had priority in the campus limelight last week end. Congratulations go to the students who were responsible for the Ball being such an enormous success. A few fraternities and sororities, not to be completely outdone, came through with dances and parties on Saturday.

Over 90 couples attended Sig Ep's "Showboat" dance Saturday night in Estabrooke. The highlight of the evening was a 45-minute minstrel show put on by a 15-man cast, who entertained with jokes and music—all of which was followed by refreshments.

A sorority sing, in which the six sororities participated, was held in the Women's Gym Monday evening from 8 to 9 p.m. Each sorority sang two of its chapter songs. This Pan-hel song session was also held last year, and is fast becoming an annual event.

Apache gangsters, looking amazingly like Theta Chi's, invaded that house a couple of Fridays ago, and even Paris itself couldn't have boasted of a more dimly lighted cage. Paintings, murals, and candles added to the atmosphere.

The party, a climax to Theta Chi's hell week, was attended by more than 60 couples. Everett Hooper entertained with a skit, and refreshments were served.

Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. John Beamesderfer.

Delta Delta Delta held a small informal party in South Estabrooke Saturday morning in honor of Nancy Carter, past Tri Delt president, and other alumnae.

'54 Handbook Being Compiled

The Freshman Handbook for 1950-51, sponsored by the General senate and compiled by the Freshman club, is taking a rejuvenated, artistic shape, according to George Grant, chairman of the Handbook committee.

Although expanded in all departments, the budget for the publication necessarily limits the space allotted to the numerous clubs and organizations. However, organizations desiring additional space may obtain it at cost.

All organizations interested in obtaining space in next year's handbook may contact either Vaughn Martin, editor, North dorm 9, or Connie Lawley, assistant editor, East hall, before May 3.

Parkinson Talks Of Bank's Role In Truman Plan

The situation in the world today makes it a certainty that the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development will assume an even more important role in the future, according to Joseph F. Parkinson, alternate executive director for Canada in the Bank, who addressed a large audience in the Louis Oakes room Wednesday afternoon.

Parkinson discussed the role of the Bank in the fulfillment of the objective of President Truman's "Bold New Plan." This plan, better known as the Point Four program, concerns the development of the non-industrialized areas of the world through economic means.

Parkinson also discussed the work of the International Monetary Fund, an agency which deals with exchange rates and is also a court of appeal between nations. In addition it economically aids those nations suffering from poor financial conditions and helps solve balance payments for reconstruction.

Rockland History Shown In Fernald

A newspaper's recording of events in the past half-century will be on display in Fernald hall during the University Open House program April 29.

Blown-up reproductions of the Rockland Courier-Gazette through the last 50 years have been prepared for exhibit by the journalism department in cooperation with Publisher John M. Richardson of the Courier-Gazette and the Farnsworth Memorial Art museum in Rockland.

The exhibit includes a 50-year-old prediction come true by the Rockland paper.

Time magazine's nomination in January of Winston Churchill as the "Man of the Half-Century" confirms the newspaper's forecast in 1901 when it named Churchill as the "Man of the Future."

Violins, Piano Solos Feature Music Program

Violin and piano solos featured the program of the University string ensemble last Sunday in the Carnegie hall foyer. Prof. L. H. Niven, head of the department of music, conducted.

Otho Knowles opened the one-hour performance with a presentation of the slow movement of the Bach Sonata in G Minor for unaccompanied violin. The string ensemble followed with Handel's Trio Sonata, Opus 5 No. 4.

Rounding out the program were Barbara Burrowes' sensitive rendition of Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Op. 2, No. 2, and a performance by the string ensemble, Helen Cumming at the organ, of Mozart's Sonata No. 1 in E Flat Major (K. No. 67) and Sonata No. 4 in D Major (K. No. 144).

Members of the ensemble are Harold Gerrish, Otho Knowles, Joseph Libbey, Virginia Norton, violins; Jean Dolloff, Howard Simpson, violincellos; and Muriel Kenderdine, continuo.

Photos By Knaut Show New England In Bright Colors

"It is in the wilderness areas of the mountains that the photographer can obtain unusual pictures." This quote from Paul Knaut, could well serve as the title of his color photo exhibit now at the Louis Oakes room until the end of the month.

The Dover-Foxcroft artist takes technical as well as artistic pride in his work, doing the developing and printing himself. His success here is attested by innumerable bids from photographic companies for his pictures.

A native of Massachusetts and a student at Thayer Academy, the University of Maine, and Northeastern university, Mr. Knaut prefers to photograph northern New England.

Although not marked, all but three or four of the displayed Knaut photos can be purchased for from nine to ten dollars each, it was learned from Prof. Vincent A. Hartgen, head of the art department.

London Group Hears Deering

Dean of Agriculture Arthur L. Deering will speak at the jubilee meeting of the Berkeley Hunt Agricultural society in London on April 28.

Dean Deering has just left Austria after completing his survey of agricultural methods and education in that country. He has already studied and reported on agricultural education in Holland, Greece, France, and Portugal.

The Dean is expected to return to the campus late in May, after his four months of government-sponsored work in European countries is completed.

Nominations Made For Debate Council

The nominating committee of the Maine Debating council has drawn up its slate of officers for next year. This slate will be presented to the council at its annual meeting to be held at Beech Hill pond May 14.

Those nominated are: president, Howard Foley; vice president, Clair Shirley; manager, George Hersey; secretary, Pat Murphy; treasurer, Lawrence Wright; and historian, William Hirst.

This year's last regular meeting of the Debate council will be held on Wednesday, May 3, at 7:15, in 6 South Stevens.

Sixteen Oils By Robert Bliss In Carnegie Show

Sixteen oil paintings by Robert R. Bliss, Bowdoin graduate and former student of two prominent Maine artists, are being exhibited in the main gallery of Carnegie hall.

The show was arranged by Prof. Vincent Hartgen and will remain on display through April 30.

The young artist, now a resident of Massachusetts, deals with familiar scenes: houses, doorways, corridors, and vistas in the country.

The Christian Science Monitor wrote of a recent Bliss exhibit, "We observe the progress of an artist who in a few years has become deeply engrossed in his medium. He seems to have started in a wholesome and promising way."

Bliss has exhibited at Bowdoin college, the Portland Museum, the Boston Society of Independent Artists, the Wilmington Art center, and at Child's Gallery in Boston.

His pictures are on permanent view in the Walker Art Gallery at Bowdoin and at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston.

Part of Maine's basketball team which swept the State series refused to recognize the fact that the basketball season was over.

With but Osgood and Woodbrey lost to the baseball team, the squad, made up of the two Goddard brothers, Al Hopkins, Wes Hussey, and John Cervone, won three of four post-season games.

Two substitutes on the team were "Sel" Harlow and Bob Hanson.

Playing under the title of Orono Collegians, they defeated the Belfast Merchants in a close opening game, 54-52. In their second contest, Houlton was on the short end of a 65-46 score. The third straight win came at the expense of the Emerson Pils whom they beat 55-49.

Last Saturday night, the Collegians took on the Cousy All-Stars, and lost their first game 53-39, but not before putting on a remarkable exhibition of the Rome Rankin-Kentucky style ball.

Bob Cousy, sensational high scorer and ball handler, who had been in the 25-point bracket, was held to eight points by guard Al Hopkins. His other two points were made against Hanson, for a total of ten. The aggressive Maine guard prowled around the floor snagging passes, and setting up plays, while keeping Cousy bottled up airtight.

Charlie and Bert, a powerful court duet, continued their sparkling play, both defensively and offensively.

Maine fans were given a real treat when they watched substitute Maine center Wes Hussey drop in sixteen points, most of them set shots.

Faithful Maine fans were given a POST SEASON treat of basketball. They liked it.

A brand new ski system will go into effect next season as a result of a recent meeting of the Intercollegiate Ski Union executives at Dartmouth last Sunday.

The all-day session decided three big issues:

1. That no freshman, at any time or under any conditions, shall compete in intercollegiate competition.

2. That no transfer student shall be able to participate, without at least one year's residence at the college. This cuts off all potential skiers who are attending the schools as special students for a one-year period.

3. No students shall be able to compete, with or against any other college after graduation.

Said Ski Coach Ted Curtis, "I feel that these rulings are the biggest step ever taken by the board to promote a fairer set-up."

The purpose of this move by the committee is "to encourage and administer intercollegiate competition... between member colleges."

Also decided was the schedule for all the meets and alternate dates in case of bad weather.

Next year will also see a revision of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival place and dates. McGill has been named for the new site.

"This long range plan will permit the colleges to make out their plans accordingly," said Curtis. "It certainly is a boost to the sport at Maine."

Ted Curtis was elected for a two-year term on a committee of seven which will take charge of discussing competition in the time allotted to them between annual meetings.

Strong Bear Track Team Meets NH Saturday

Maine Ski Patrol Finishes First Successful Year

BY EDITH CURTIS

Football Is Back This Week End

King football will return to the campus for a short stay Saturday afternoon when Coach Dave Nelson's spring footballers will stage a climaxing intra-squad game as part of the Open House program. Game time is set for 3:30.

Based on scrimmage sessions held during spring practice thus far, Saturday's contest between veterans from last fall's Yankee conference championship team and a newcomer-freshman team promises to provide action nearly equal to that of regular season play.

Starters Not Decided

Coach Nelson has not definitely decided on starters for the two teams as yet, but he reported that probably all of the 50-odd men who have been working out will see action.

The Black Bear gridders put on a good show last Saturday, braving cold winds and rain in an hour-and-a-half near game-like scrimmage. Dividing into two offensive and two defensive groups, they showed occasional bursts of power in all divisions.

Tennis Team Set To Go Against New Hampshire

Fresh from two solid victories over New Hampshire and Connecticut, the University of Maine tennis squad is prepared for its second game with New Hampshire here Saturday.

After defeating New Hampshire, the squad met last year's Yankee conference winner, Rhode Island, and was leading by a wide margin when the matches were called off because of rain.

Small said that he believes his number one man, Bob Thoits, has a very good chance of coping individual honors by gaining the Yankee conference singles championship.

The University of Maine Ski Patrol has completed its first season of organized activity under patrol leader Bob Rupp. This alert group has been of invaluable aid to ski enthusiasts at Maine throughout the winter.

Members of the Patrol are well-trained to meet any emergency on the slopes, and everyone connected with this organization has completed the American Red Cross standard first-aid courses. The U-Maine Patrol assisted the ski meets at Bald mountain and accompanied all Maine Outing club ski trips.

Active History

The history of the University patrol is a short but active one. In 1948 a small group of interested students became alarmed at the increase of accidents on the slopes caused by the rise of ski interest following the war.

They requested aid from the American Red Cross and the Penobscot Valley Ski Patrol, and when the MOC agreed to sponsor the organization, a first-aid course under the direction of Rena Thorndike was begun.

By the end of spring, the group had completed the advanced course, which was instructed by Walter Melvin, president of PVSC, and Walter Batcheler, district chairman of the Red Cross.

Four of the students passed the instructor course which was given by a national representative last fall. These persons were Rena Thorndike, Bob Rupp, Jan Cates, and Edith Curtis.

They began immediately to teach a pair of first-aid courses, which were finished recently, and instruction in the advanced course has now begun.

Accidents Cut In Half

The Patrol was officially organized in October, at which time it became affiliated with the National Ski Patrol.

Pointing to skiing accidents, Unit Leader Bob Rupp said with a grin, "We're the only organization on campus that doesn't want to do anything."

Records show that last winter's casualty list was cut by more than half, through the efforts of the patrol.

Pastimers Split With Husky Nine

Coach Mike Lude's traveling baseball squad had only one day of baseball weather on its New England trip and gained a split with the University of Connecticut in a doubleheader at Storrs, Conn.

Vic Woodbrey pitched four-hit ball to give Maine a 5-2 win in the first of the two seven-inning games but the UConn came back to take the second game, 6-3.

Rain washed out scheduled contests with Northeastern and Rhode Island.

Maine got only four hits in the opener but bunched three of them in the third inning for all five runs.

Woodbrey started it off with a single and moved to second on Jim Delois' single. Joe Nickless reached on a fielder's choice. UConn pitcher Salling bobbled Clyde Douglass' hard smash, permitting Woodbrey to score and Douglass to take first.

Cleanup batter Carl Wight doubled to left to score Delois and Nickless. Douglass and Wight crossed the plate on an infield out and an outfield fly.

The Huskies jumped on Maine starter Bob Breton for a pair of runs in the first inning of the nightcap. Breton gave up four walks and a single in that inning and was lifted after allowing two more walks and another sinbgle in the second.

The Bears evened the score with two runs in the second but reliever Marty Dow was touched for braces of runs in the fourth and sixth innings.

Freshman Track Team Will Open Against MCI

The Freshman outdoor track squad will open its season Saturday afternoon against Maine Central Institute in a meet to be run in conjunction with the varsity meet against New Hampshire.

The Frosh defeated MCI last winter in an indoor meet at the field house.

Cindermen Face Wildcats After First Victory

With a sweeping win over Boston College already on the record, the University of Maine outdoor track squad will meet New Hampshire Saturday on the Alumni field oval.

The Bears will be seeking revenge for the setback the Granite Staters handed them last year at Durham.

Last weekend the Bears took 11 firsts out of 14 events from an undermanned Boston College aggregation to win 85½ to 49½. Along with their domination of the top positions, Coach Jenkins' men added two sweeps, in the javelin and the hammer, for good measure.

A cold wind-swept rain bothered veteran weight man Vaughn Totman not at all as he led the Pale Blue forces by winning the discus event as usual and then tossing the javelin an amazing 183 feet, 6½ inches to rack up his second win of the afternoon.

Maine's Steve Orach won the hammer throw with a 149 foot flip and Floyd Milbank took the shot put with a 44 foot, 4 inch try.

Blaine Beal, a three-year veteran and co-captain of the Maine squad, was also a double winner in the hurdles. He broke the tape first in both the 120 high and 220 low events.

Other top men for the home club were Green in the dashes, middle distance man John Bowler, and twomiler Dick Dow, who does his best running in the outdoor events. Dow won the grueling two mile run after experiencing mediocre luck during the winter sessions.

Bill McCloed went up 11 feet and that was enough to take a first in the pole vault, while dependable Jerry Haynes added another win to his long string with a broad jump of 21 feet, 10 inches. Both marks were good considering the wet and windy conditions.

Golf Team Preps For YC Tourney At Storrs May 8

Golf Coach Charlie Emery has scheduled a series of matches among the 16 members of his golf squad in order to line up his team for the Yankee conference matches May 8 at the University of Connecticut.

The golf team will also warm up for the conference matches by playing Colby at Waterville on May 3.

Emery said that he was "very pleased" with the showing his team made on the recent New England trip. Maine defeated Boston university and Rhode Island and lost to Connecticut.

Practice round scores turned in before the trip showed Don Brown and Andy Bunker, top men on the Maine squad, with the lowest averages. Brown averaged 38 and Bunker 40.

Other averages are: Joe Gordon, 41.1; Bud Mullins, 41.6; Dick Sturtevant, 42; Art Charles, 42; Connie Bosworth, 42.3; Walt Hewins, 43.1; John Eldridge, 43.6; John Gowan, 43.6; Jim McDonald, 44.5; Paul Lindgren, 44.8; Dick Schurman, 46.6; William Kimball, 47; William Patridge, 47.6; Walt Schurman, 47.9.

George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns holds the major league record for the most hits in one season—257 in 143 games in 1920.

Rare Bird Specimen Given To University

A valuable museum study skin of an extinct game bird, the heath hen, has been given to the Maine Cooperative Wildlife Research unit at the University, according to the head of the unit, Howard L. Mendall.

Very few specimens of this bird have been preserved in museums. The skin was given by William O. Sweet of Attleboro, Massachusetts.
